Evans Iris Gardens

P.O. Box 4011

CLEVELAND, 23, OHIO

This is our first formal catalog of Tall Bearded Iris. We hope you will find this booklet interesting and useful for reference and that you will also use it as your buying guide.

The list is relatively small, but choice; it includes a selection of some of the more popular varieties of recent years, many having won special recognition and awards of the American Iris Society. Another section lists some of the older kinds, which have stood the test of time, and are still popular. Do not be misled by the low prices in this group. They will make worthy additions to your garden plantings.

Someone has wisely said "there is joy and health in your garden." Whether vegetable or flower, there is a quality, color, and fragrance in your own produce that cannot be purchased. Then too, the sunshine, fresh air, work and rest between times that accompanies your gardening efforts all help you to build a better body, and increase your enjoyment in the fruits of the soil.

Iris are among the most beautiful of garden flowers. They are quite easy to grow and will thrive on almost any type of soil except that which is wet. Few of our garden flowers provide such richly painted blossoms as the iris and none have as wide a range of color. Truly it is the rainbow's rival.

Choose a few, or as many as you wish, they will impress you with their wonderful beauty and their amiable disposition which adapts to almost all conditions. It should be everybody's flower; once established it will live forever.

When this little booklet has served your purpose, please pass it on to another flower lover; or, better still, send us names of those you think would like to receive a copy. We'll mail promptly.

TERMS OF SALE

Check, draft or money order with your order, please. Do not send postage stamps. If you send currency, be sure to send it registered mail.

Orders for $3.00 or more will be shipped prepaid. Add 35c for packing and shipping charges on orders of less than $3.00.

Ohio residents must add 3% sales tax.

On orders for $10.00 or more you may deduct ten per cent.

The rhizomes we ship will be clean and healthy. As growing habits of varieties vary, some rhizomes may be smaller than others. Extra large rhizomes may not always be the best; health and firmness are much more important.

We will not substitute unless requested by you.

For best results in our latitude plant early. Iris planted before September 1st will give better first year bloom.

We will start shipping after July 4th. Early orders, those received before June 1st, will receive the pick of the rhizomes. Order early; some varieties are in limited supply.

THE AMERICAN IRIS SOCIETY "exists for the sole purpose of promoting the culture and improvement of the IRIS." Their rules governing awards, etc., have been revised at intervals in an attempt to keep pace with the development of improved varieties.

There are more than 400 accredited judges in the society and all are invited to join in the voting each year. Perhaps a brief outline of the regulations governing the awards may be of interest. They are substantially as follows:

HONORABLE MENTION - To be eligible an iris must be properly registered and introduced on the commercial market. Favorable votes from twelve judges are required.

AWARD OF MERIT - Two years after a variety has won "Honorable Mention" it is eligible for the Award of Merit, and remains eligible during a five-year period. The judges vote their choices for this award each year and the eight tall bearded iris receiving the largest number of votes receive the award.

DYKES MEMORIAL MEDAL - Having won the "Award of Merit" an iris is eligible for the highest honor, the Dykes Medal, and remains eligible for three years. To win, an iris must receive the highest number of votes of the judges, and be recommended by at least twenty-five judges of the society.

SYMPOSIUM OF BEST 100 IRIS (EACH YEAR) - Beginning with 1940, the judges have voted their selection of the best 100 iris. The results are carefully tabulated, and the 100 iris receiving the highest combined ratings each year, are listed as the Society's "Symposium." The symposium for 1951 is given on page 23.

VALLEEVUE TEST GARDEN REPORT 1951

The Valleevue Test Gardens, Thomas R. Manley, Horticulturist, are conducted by Biological Field Station of Western Reserve University and Garden Center of Greater Cleveland. This report covers the Tall Bearded Iris Trials from 1949 through 1951.

This is the initial report of the iris test plot planted on October 5, 1949. The plants wintered well under a heavy timothy hay mulch and bloomed well during late May and June 1950. Data collected in 1950 was compared with that taken from two year clumps in the spring of 1951. This report is a compilation of that data.

Whenever possible, the plantings are made according to color so that each variety may be studied in comparison with existing varieties of its particular color. Careful records are made on the growth of the plant; vegetative habit, both during the blooming and the non-blooming season; the bloom stalk, its branching habits, strength and composition; the floret, its color, substance, size, and form and uniqueness; growth factors in regard to disease resistance; tolerance to wind and rain; and the general garden value of the variety.

The following procedure was inaugurated by the Test Garden in making awards: the iris are rated AA-Superior, A-Excellent, B-Good. Varieties rated lower are not listed. 206 varieties were available for evaluation for this report. The 48 varieties listed below have been designated as worthy of ratings. It is suggested they be used as a basis of study for additions of tall bearded iris to the gardens of this region.

THE 100 FAVORITE IRISES OF 1951

The twelfth annual Symposium by the accredited judges of the American Iris Society found 262 judges of the Society casting ballots. It is in its nature a popularity list, because to be on it an iris must be well distributed over the country and be well liked by most of the judges.
